White Wash explores the history of African Americans and water culture, from slavery and civil rights wade-ins to surfing in contemporary times. This 2011 documentary, narrated by Grammy-winner Ben Harper, includes archival footage and interviews with professional surfers, and features the historic beach site known as the "Ink Well." A discussion with the director Ted Woods; Rick Blocker, blacksurfing.com founder; and historian Alison Rose Jefferson follows the screening.

(Film running time: 78 min.)
